

Ten Things To Know About Your PSC Membership

PSC is known for being the leading advocate and information resource on all of the critical policy and business issues affecting the federal professional and technical services industry—but there may be some things that you don't know about PSC and your membership.

- 1 Save the dates (and reserve your rooms) for the PSC Annual Conference October 3-5 at Nemaconlin Woodlands in Farmington, PA.
- 2 Schedule a PSC Market and Policy Briefing for your team, which provides an overview of the federal services market and the many forces that are driving it. It explores the market for federal services and addresses today's budget/appropriations challenges, buying trends, policy changes, and other important market drivers.
- 3 PSC also offers a Membership Benefit Briefing, which provides an overview of PSC's top priorities and the variety of ways you can participate. Schedule a briefing today to increase the value of your investment.
- 4 PSC's web site contains valuable information on priority issues; a grassroots "how-to" guide; the Insourcing Action Center; the Professional Development Resource Center; and more! To login, you'll need your username and password, which is typically your company e-mail address and the password, "leadership." You can change your password at anytime via the web site.
- 5 You should know about and join our Committees and Task Forces. REMEMBER, to receive notifications about PSC's specific Committee and Task Force meetings, you must be part of the committee's distribution list. To find out what Committees and Task Forces are available contact Matt Busby, busby@pscouncil.org. Your company can also sign up to sponsor a lunch for these meetings.
- 6 If you are unable to come to a Committee or Task Force meeting, no problem; teleconference instead! To get the dial in number for the meeting you wish you attend, ask Matt Busby for the dial in when you RSVP.
- 7 You can gain recognition among your peers by submitting an article for publication in Service Contractor magazine or a "Contracting Done Right" story for the SmartContracting e-newsletter.
- 8 Join the PSC members-only group on LinkedIn. In 2010, we will introduce new topics of discussion and promote LinkedIn as an additional vehicle for communication among PSC members.
- 9 If you recruit a new member to join the association you can earn rewards such as $100 from Amazon or a free conference registration! At the same time, you are also enhancing the strength and effectiveness of your association. Contact Callander Turner for details.
- 10 If you advertise in PSC's magazine, *Service Contractor, you can reach more than 3,000 professionals across the federal services industry, including key members of Congress and agency leaders.
