

Jan Auman, President of Tetra Tech International Development Services, brings 38 years of hands-on experience managing large, complex, international development programs and global operations. Mr. Auman previously served for nine years as President of Tetra Tech's Burlington, Vermont Operations (former ARD). He has held a variety of positions in his 25 years with Tetra Tech, including Vice President for Business Development and Outreach, Vice President for International Operations, and Director of Administration and Finance. Previously, Mr. Auman served as Peace Corps Director in Sierra Leone, Lesotho, Liberia, Samoa and Cook Islands. He currently serves as Chair of the Executive Advisory Board of the Council of International Development Companies (CIDC) and on the Executive Board of the Professional Services Council (PSC).

Mr. Auman's extensive overseas experience includes serving as USAID Chief of Party in the West Bank and Gaza, Jamaica, and Lesotho. With more than 20 years of overseas residence, Mr. Auman has management experience in the areas of community development, emergency and humanitarian assistance, environmental management, conflict mitigation and resolution, institutional development, and policy formulation in the Middle East, the Pacific, the Caribbean, and Africa.