

Edward (Ed) Dolanski

President

Global Services & Support - Defense, Space & Security

Ed Dolanski is the president of Global Services & Support (GS&S), a Defense, Space & Security business unit, with revenues of more than $9 billion in 2015. He leads a team of more than 13,000 employees in 295 locations providing a variety of products and services to customers worldwide. The business is the U.S. Department of Defense's largest performance-based logistics contractor and an industry leader in providing sustainment solutions for Boeing and select non-Boeing platforms. etc.

Prior to this assignment, Dolanski was president and chief executive officer of Aviall, a Dallas-based Boeing subsidiary that is the world's largest provider of new aviation parts and related aftermarket services. Prior to joining Boeing, Dolanski served at Raytheon Company as vice president, mission support, Network Centric Systems; vice president, Aftermarket Businesses and Customer Support, Raytheon Aircraft Company (Hawker & Beechcraft); and chief information officer, Aircraft Integration Systems.

Dolanski's experience also includes 14 years with Walmart Stores, Inc., where he held progressively responsible positions at the corporate office within information technology and supply chain management.

Dolanski is a member of the Texas Diversity Council board of directors and has been recognized with several diversity awards including DiversityFIRST and CEO Champions of Diversity. He attended Vanderbilt University Owen Graduate School and holds a bachelor's degree from John Brown University.