

“The Attain Way is all about service – to our clients in the way we deliver on our promise to achieve results, and to the communities in which we live to give of our time, talents, and treasures and improve the lives of others.

Finding a way to give back and make a difference is fundamental to being a leader. It’s not just a responsibility; it’s a privilege.”

Greg J. Baroni

CHAIRMAN AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Greg Baroni is the chairman and chief executive officer, as well as co-founder of Attain, LLC. Before founding Attain, Mr. Baroni held various leadership roles at Unisys Corporation, including corporate senior vice president of the company and president of its Federal Systems and Global Public Sector unit. In these roles, he was responsible for a worldwide business comprising six geographic regions and the U.S. Federal Systems group. Under his leadership, these business units achieved extraordinary results. During his tenure, the Federal Systems group doubled its revenue while achieving industry standard operating margins.

Previously, Mr. Baroni spent nearly 20 years at KPMG Consulting. He departed the company as its senior vice president of Public Services, serving government, nonprofit, education, and health institutions. In this capacity, Mr. Baroni advised numerous organizations on critical business areas such as strategy, cost optimization, and distributed learning. He also led development, implementation and integration projects involving enterprise-wide packaged solutions and development of software solutions, including grants management, cost allocation, property management, space utilization and effort reporting software. Furthermore, he pioneered the spinoff of a distributed learning group that is now Blackboard, Inc.

Mr. Baroni has received numerous industry leadership awards such as the Fed 100, Fast Company's Fast 50, Consulting magazine's Top 25, the Greater Washington Government Contracting Awards' Executive of the Year, and the EY Entrepreneur Of The Year in the Government Services, Small category for Greater Washington. He also has led Attain to be recognized among Consulting magazine's 2016 and 2017 Fastest Growing Firms and the publication's 2017 Best Firms to Work For.

Mr. Baroni is an active leader in the professional association community and continues to actively serve the missions of our local charitable and industry organizations. He earned a bachelor's degree in Economics at the University of Southern California.
