Patti Espey-English is the Vice President of Marketing for Westat, an employee-owned professional services research corporation consulting on social science research, statistical analysis, and evidence-based communications. Patti has been with Westat for 5 years and is responsible for Westat's marketing strategy and communications as well as marketing operations, including business proposal development, small business compliance, and business development support.

Prior to joining Westat, she was the CFO for Cardno Emerging Markets, a development assistance firm located in Arlington, VA. From 1998-2006, she was Director for Capture and Business Operations at Lucent Government Solutions and before that held several positions in sales, marketing, and business operations for AT&T Government Solutions.

Patti has her MBA in Marketing from George Washington University in Washington, DC, and her Bachelors of Arts in Education/History from the University of Maryland in College Park.